IEEE ANTS Inviting Paper Submission in the Early Career Research Forum

14th International Conference on Advanced Networks and Telecommunication Systems (IEEE-ANTS) to be held on the 14-17 December 2020 at IIIT-Delhi, New Delhi, India is Inviting Submissions of Extended Research Abstract for the Early Career Research Forum

IEEE ANTS is a premier IEEE conference on advanced networking and telecommunications topics. IEEE ANTS is financially and technically supported by IEEE Communications Society. The distinguishing characteristic of IEEE ANTS is the promotion of an intense dialogue between academia and industry to bridge the gap between academic research, industry initiatives, and governmental policies.

The Forum will be an excellent opportunity for industry and leading research labs to provide a two-way exchange of knowledge where early career researchers (B.Tech, M.Tech or Ph.D.) can explain their research work (including work-in-progress) to a broader audience and gain valuable feedback and establish collaboration to develop future technology of common interest. Each research submission will be judged by an independent panel of experts in the categories of Industrial Impact and Academic Impact.

Submissions categories (but not limited to) are as follows:
1. Radio Frequency Systems and Design
2. Wireless Communication and Networks
3. Optical Communication and Networks
4. Heterogeneous Networks and Design
5. Quantum Technology
6. Network Security

To submit the entries the researchers need to submit a two page extended research abstract describing their research work and contribution under within 1000 words which shall include research objective, how the research is related to the theme of "ICT for Connecting Humanity", research category, methodology, research contribution to Industry, research contribution to Academia. The researcher can also add figures within the two page limit.
Deadline for Submission: September 22, 2020.
Notification for Presentation: October 15, 2020.
